GOBIOSERVICES, Freelance Software Developer □

I served as a Web Developer at GoBioService for 1 year, during which I undertook multiple projects.

• GoBio Application: I led the development of an order management application using C#.NET, MySQL, and ASP.NET 🖄, ensuring a user-friendly interface and precise transaction tracking. As the sole web developer for GoBioService, I handled both front-end and backend development, including an email module and optimized order form. Successfully delivered end-to-end application development independently, enhancing operational tracking efficiency by 30% and achieving direct client appreciation, meeting all client specifications and demonstrating my ability to deliver high-quality solutions independently.
